Thank you for your purchase of a Copper Creek Load Development Pack.

In your pack you will find 25 rounds; each has been marked with a color. Each group of 5 has been incrementally charged or seated, if this is your second pack. Red is the slowest or longest (closest to the lands) and black is the fastest or shortest (furthest from the lands). Go out and shoot 5 groups with your 5 different color rounds. Whichever shoots the best is the load your rifle likes the best! If this is your first pack you can experiment with greater accuracy by purchasing our second load pack and trying out different seating depths to see how much “jump” a projectile prefers in your rifle! We highly recommend that you measure your chamber with a Hornady Overall Length Gauge and letting us know the COAL (not ogive) measurement before moving onto your next pack. We sell modified cases, projectiles, calipers, and the Hornady Gauge to help with your measurement, let us know if you need anything. Remember when you measure your groups, measure center to center.

After you’ve decided which load your rifle likes best, just let us know which color to load and you will have custom ammo to your specs!! Please contact us with any further questions.

Use the following chart for notes if you’d like:

Date Shot	Color	Velocity	Comments	Group Size
	Red
	Blue
	Green
	Purple
	Black
